

SEMI-WEEKLY INTERIOR JOURNAL.

VOL. XX.

STANFORD, KY., TUESDAY, MAY 10, 1892.

NO. 21

LONDON, LAUREL COUNTY.

—W. C. Pitman's little son, John, has been very sick this week.

—Frank Ward was lodged in jail this week charged with obtaining money under false pretenses at Pittsburgh.

—It is hoped that the democrats of Laurel will not fail to be present next Saturday, May 14, at the convention to be held to select delegates from this district and to express their preference for a candidate for president.

—There is nothing one can say except to offer sympathy and regret to the Interior's editor over the loss he has sustained. These few words will in no way express the actual interest of the writer and subscribers of your paper and the many others who speak regretfully of this loss, which will bow down in grief one whom we all admire.

—John Warren was arrested and put in jail last Wednesday, charged with stealing a mule and two hams from some parties near Pittsburgh, and was caught with both in his possession. It is thought he had no intention of keeping the mule, but had taken it to carry the hams home as he lived near. Friday he succeeded in picking a lock in the corridor, next to the sleeping cell that Craig Gragg and others got out of and escaped through the same holes. Dick Harbin and Rowan Hardin gave him a foot race, while Simp Stanifer, who had a horse hitched convenient, also gave him a chase and the trio succeeded in capturing him before he got to the top of cemetery hill and he has since been confined in a sleeping cell. It has been several days since the jail was broken open, and yet the bars have not been mended and even the bricks on the outside wall have not been put in. Both the jailer and county judge are personal friends of the writer, but that don't keep me from saying that it shows a most wilful neglect of duty in not making these necessary repairs.

—Jailer Lovell returned Friday from Jackson county, where he has been after one of the prisoners who escaped from him recently. John Parrott was the man and he was in on a U. S. warrant for selling whisky. Bad Jink Young, from the Raccoon neighborhood, accompanied Lovell and they succeeded in capturing him and on their return with the prisoner Bad Jink's double barrel shot-gun went off and shot Parrott through the arm, up near the shoulder, going through where the arm and body joins and coming out back under the left shoulder blade, from which Parrot died in a few hours. Lovell says that Parrot was walking by the side of Young, who was horseback, and Young was carrying his muzzle loading shotgun in front of him when it was accidentally discharged. Lovell took Young to a magistrate and gave him up, but it is rumored that Young gave bond and has left the country. Circuit court is going on in Jackson county and Sunday the sheriff and R. A. Dyche, of that county, came here and took Lovell there, accused with having been accessory to the death of Parrott. They said the prisoner made a dying statement that he was shot intentionally and unnecessarily, but the citizens here believe Lovell's statement.

A Democratic Mass Convention.

At a meeting of the Democratic County Committee on May 7, 1892, the following resolution was adopted:

A mass convention of the democracy of Lincoln county is called to meet at the court-house in Stanford at 2 p. m., Saturday, May 14, 1892, to select six delegates to the next Democratic State Convention, which convenes in Louisville on May 25th. J. B. PAXTON, Chairman. GEO. P. BRIGHT, Secretary.

A soft rubber disk fixed upon a rubber spring has been invented to aid the hearing of the partially deaf. This is inserted in the ear and is shaped so that it will focus the waves of sound upon the natural ear drum. It has been used with eminent success, as by it many partially deaf persons are able to dispense with the cumbersome, long ear trumpet.

—Our good Brother Walton will correct the statement in his paper that the tax levy for county purposes in Madison county is 89 cents on the $100. The county tax is only 40 cents, whilst the State tax is 43, the two combined making 89 cents. It was a small error, but it is well enough in such matters to be accurate.—Richmond Register.

The inexperienced one—Jack, Tom and Harry invariably invite me to go out on the same evening.

The experienced one—That is the result of having beaux who are chums.—Life.

—Rev. S. A. Butt died at Dr. Will Hunn's last week. He was for many years a preacher in the Christian church and in his way was quite a remarkable man. He was the father of the late Ambrose Butt, so well-known in this section.

—Gold to the amount of $2,600,000 was exported from New York for Europe Saturday.

DANVILLE.

—One of the twin babies of Mr. Wm. King died Sunday and was buried Monday.

—Mrs. Lewis Dunham, of Denver, Col., is visiting the Misses Fisher, on Lexington street.

—Col. James A. Fisher will next week sell out his household goods and go to St. Louis to live with his son, George D. Fisher.

—Mr. Charles Williams, once town marshal of Danville, was here last week, after an absence of several years. His home is now in Kansas City.

—Mr. C. B. Fackler has obtained a clerkship with Mr. Arnold, general freight agent for the Cincinnati Southern, at Cincinnati. Mrs. B. F. Phillips has returned from a visit to friends at Louisville.

—Mr. Charley Grubbs, the bank clerk who helped arrest the $4,600 sneak thief last week at Mt. Sterling, graduated from Centre College four years ago. While here he boarded with Mrs. C. P. McGoodwin.

—Mrs. Sally A. Steinbergen got ready to come up town Monday morning and laid her pocket-book down on a bureau while she stepped for a moment into another room. When she returned some one had opened the pocket-book and stolen $11 in silver, leaving two $10 bills and other paper money undisturbed.

—This dispatch was sent by our attentive reporter for last issue, but it came after the paper had gone to press:

Miss Mattie H. Lyne, of Henderson, and J. K. McGoodwin married to-day at the home of the bride's mother, in Henderson. Bishop T. U. Dudley, of Louisville, officiated. They left at once on a trip to Niagara Falls and will be back here the last of the week.

—A woman with three children, the eldest a good-sized boy, crippled, and who gave the name of Susan Mary Warren, was here from Saturday to Monday, the guest of Harve French, at the town's expense. She says she is the widow of Joseph M. Warren, a railroad brakeman who was killed six months ago on the road between Louisville and Shelbyville. Tickets were given them Monday, when the whole party sailed for Somerset.

—The directors of the Danville and Hustonville Turnpike Co. met at the Farmers' National Bank Saturday and unanimously re-elected Mr. Wm. Warren president and the following directors: Thomas McRoberts, Dr. Ed Alcorn, J. M. Van Meter, George F. Anderson, W. P. Givens, G. B. Woodcock, W. L. Caldwell was re-elected president of the Danville and Salt River road and C. S. Jackson of the Danville and Pleasant Hill road. The old boards of directors of the last two roads were also re-elected.

—The Board of Control of the American Trotting Association declined to reinstate the expelled horse Nelson.

—At a sale of registered Jerseys at Louisville, last week, 82 head were sold at prices ranging from $100 to $280.

—Goldsmith Maid, 2:14, Lucy, 2:18, and Lady Thorne, 2:18, three of the queens of the turf, are buried side by side.

—It is reported that not less than 1,000 horses have been killed by the sting of the Buffalo gnats in Western Kentucky.

—Allerton, 2:09, has to his credit 45 heats in 2:30 or better, the largest number won by a five-year-old. Dr. Sparks, 2:17, however, who is a year younger, has won 46.

—New Haven, Conn., is well supplied with fast pacers, B. B., 2:13, Bud Doble, 2:13, and Monkey Roller, 2:15, being owned there. A match between the three is talked of.

—Col. W. A. Harris, of Linwood Kas., recently sold at public auction 43 head of thoroughbred shorthorns at an average of $252. Only one animal in the bunch brought more than $400. This is the best average sale of shorthorns made in years.

—Carrier Sparks, of Cincinnati, is in jail for opening letters.

—Matthew D. Hume the oldest resident of Clark county, died at his home. He was the grandfather of Hume Clay, who is now serving a term in prison for forging his grandfather's name for $100, 000.

—James Ford, a prominent farmer of Logan county, was shot to death on the roadside by negroes, with whom he had some trouble in the courts. The negroes escaped, but will likely be caught by the posse of men, which is now scouring the country for them.

—Mr. John B. Thompson, about the last survivor in Kentucky of the collapse of the Hill boom, announces that he has yielded to the demands of his private business and the political complexion of his district and withdrawn his candidacy for delegate to Chicago.

—While the officers of the Traders' Deposit Bank, at Mt. Sterling, were watching a circus parade, a slick individual rushed in and grabbed a bag containing $4,600. He was discovered before he left the house, however, and now languishes in jail at that place. He gave his name as Frank Owings.

GRAB ORCHARD.

—Mad dogs are numerous now in this vicinity.

—Mr. John Lawrence buried a son on Wednesday, who died of spinal trouble.

—The deepest sympathy is expressed by the people in this community for the editor in his sad bereavement, and although we know this will not take from his sorrow, still it is a consolation to know we have sympathetic friends.

—Mrs. H. L. Steger continues quite ill and her many friends are feeling very anxious for her to get a start upward. Miss Robinson, a very pretty young lady of Harrodsburg, is stopping with Mrs. W. T. Stephenson and will teach a class in music.

—Tuesday the people had a grand fishing party and on Wednesday night a select number had a cake cutting at the College Hall, which was highly enjoyed. The ring was cut by Miss Eva Buchanan and the darning needle, which was for the old maid, fell to the lot of Miss Hannah McFall; Miss Bettie Higgins cut the money, while Miss Mollie Brooks got the button. After the cake cutting was over and a few dances were enjoyed all left for home.

—Quite a nice dance was enjoyed at Col. Slaughter's Saturday night, gotten up on short notice, and on Friday night will give the last one before going to Green Briar. He will move his family to the Springs next Monday. Messrs. Wix Dillon and Harry Melvin, of Dillon, spent Sunday in Crab Orchard.

—Miss Hattie Henry, Messrs. Bettis, Harris, Spencer and quite a number of Lancaster gents were in Crab Orchard Sunday, but we failed to learn all of their names. Miss Lottie Dillon spent the week with Mrs. Sue Holmes and family.

—Thursday morning a party from here went to Dillon to stay a few days. It included, after all arrived, Miss Ella May Saunders, Stanford, Mrs. J. F. Holdam, Mrs. T. A. Gresham, Mrs. S. A. Ward, Mrs. Alice Newland, Misses Eva Buchanan, Lula Stuart, Birdie James, and Messrs. J. F. Holdam, J. W. James, Holdam Stuart, Robert Coffey and Fred Newland. They were all entertained at the Free Hotel and Forest Home and everything was done for the comfort and amusement of the guests and in a manner which no one else but those people understand. We had fishing, boat riding, horseback riding, dancing and hunting to our hearts' content, and unfortunately for Mr. and Mrs. Dillon, they invited us back and every one of us is sure to go, as all who ever go there can never stay away.

FARM AND TRADE ITEMS.

—D. N. Prewitt bought in this county a bunch of fat heifers at 2½ to 2¾ cents.

—Eubanks Bros. bought of W. F. Davis, of Boyle, a lot of 2-year-old steers and heifers at 2½¢.

—W. T. Moren, of Laurel, got 254 pounds of wool off of three sheep. He must have shaved them.

—T. C. Colemon sold his fine stock farm, "Fairview," near Harrodsburg, last week, to a New York party, for $17,000 cash.

—Funk, Anderson & Co. bought 100 barrels of corn from James Knox and 300 barrels from parties in Mercer, this week at $225 per barrel. —Advocate.

—The president approved the Chinese Exclusion bill.

—New York has a pugilist in the person of "Fatty" Langtry, who weighs 325 pounds.

—Jay Gould is reported to be a very sick man in his private car at Albuquerque, N. M.

—The Board of Equalization has completed the work of fixing the assessments for the counties of the State. The result shows the total assessed valuation of property to be $544,708,996, an increase of $10,405,615 over last year.

—The overwhelming strength of ex-President Cleveland in the Northwest, as shown by the action of the Wisconsin and Michigan conventions, is exceedingly gratifying. There has been no doubt that both the conventions would give him their endorsement, but even his friends had not counted on such overwhelming enthusiasm.

—The farmers, who have not finished planting corn, very sensibly staid at home yesterday and prosecuted the work, consequently there was a very small crowd in town and but little business was done.

—Capt. T. W. Bottom, the auctioneer, tells us that from 27 black Langshan hens since Feb. 1, he has sold 89 settings of eggs at $1 per setting. Besides this he has 40 young chickens as a result of the 27 hens' product.

—Hardy & McClure, of Pineville, purchased of G. W. Baughman a lot of 1,075-pound cows at 3¢; of S. H. Baughman a lot of same at $35; of H. S. Withers a bunch of heifers at 3½¢ and of W. L. Lillard a couple of butcher cattle at 4½¢.

—Master Commissioner Davison sold at public auction yesterday the following: House and two lots in Crab Orchard to G. C. Kennedy for $300; house and lot in Rowland for $71 and another for $115, both bought by John O. Neal's ex'or.; house and lot in Moreland to W. S. Wigham for $287.45.

—Capt. T. W. Bottom reports about 50 cattle here yesterday, the most of them small and of a very inferior grade. He sold five steers, weighing 500 pounds, at $13.75 and seven head of cows at 1½¢. A few ping horses brought from $25 to $32.50 and seven good horses sold from $17 to $95. No mules were offered.

LANCASER, GARRARD COUNTY.

—George Simpson, of Stone, has been granted a pension at the rate of $12 per month.

—The K. C. is building an addition to the freight depot, to be used as a passenger room.

—Mr. G. R. Hardin's new brick building, on Richmond street, is rapidly nearing completion.

—A meeting of the democrats of the court-house and engine-house precincts was held at the court-house Saturday afternoon and delegates selected to the county convention.

—Messrs. James and Bob Hamilton were called to Middlesboro Sunday by a telegram announcing the serious illness of their mother, Mrs. Robert Fox. Clyde Herrin, of Louisville, is in town. Mr. Bob McRoberts and wife and Mrs. M. D. Hughes spent Sunday with relatives in Stanford. Mr. and Mrs. Joe Carr are visiting in Richmond. Dr. Al Price, of Stanford, was here Sunday. Mrs. C. M. Reid is visiting at T. A. Reid's on Richmond avenue. Messrs. Casey Owsley and Robert Salter, of Danville, spent Saturday and Sunday in Lancaster.

—When the sunshine that has beautified the earth has been obscured by shadows and tempests; when desolation has wrecked the soul and the flowers that graced the household have ceased to bloom, there can come no greater blessing than the sympathies of those we love and whose words of comfort are a benediction. The condolence that goes forth on the wing of the morning from all over the land towards one who has been bereft of the idol of his heart, contains none more sincere than that of the writer, who has watched with intense interest the events connected with the sad termination of the life of the companion of the editor of this paper. Such, however, is the destiny of all, we find and our only comfort in the fact that on the mountain-tops we catch a glimpse of the beautiful beyond, where shadows never come and where the fragrance of the roses and lilies lingers forever.

THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY.

—McInerney, the moralizer (?), has introduced a bill to close barber shops on Sundays.

—Among the bills to come before the State Senate this week are the measure fixing freight rates on coal and that creating the office of Assistant Inspector of Mines.

—Mr. Gardner has introduced a bill at Frankfort to prevent the sale or manufacture of oleomargarine or similar imitations unless they are properly stamped as such imitations.

—The Hon. Pettit presented a communication in the House disapproving the "hasty action" of Speaker Moore on Wednesday last and declaring the journal as read incorrect. Pettit was again sat upon, as the communication was tabled and the journal approved.

—The president approved the Chinese Exclusion bill.

—New York has a pugilist in the person of "Fatty" Langtry, who weighs 325 pounds.

—Jay Gould is reported to be a very sick man in his private car at Albuquerque, N. M.

—The Board of Equalization has completed the work of fixing the assessments for the counties of the State. The result shows the total assessed valuation of property to be $544,708,996, an increase of $10,405,615 over last year.

—The overwhelming strength of ex-President Cleveland in the Northwest, as shown by the action of the Wisconsin and Michigan conventions, is exceedingly gratifying. There has been no doubt that both the conventions would give him their endorsement, but even his friends had not counted on such overwhelming enthusiasm.

—The Egyptian levees, between Keokuk, Ia., and Alexandria, Mo., have been broken by swollen streams and great damage has resulted. The people are getting ready to leave Alexandria. The flood at Peoria, Ill., has rendered 500 persons homeless. All the families in the inundated La Marsh drainage district have been rescued, with one exception.

W. P. WALTON.

CHOICE.

DEATH OF MRS. W. P. WALTON.

Entered into eternal rest at 7:30 a. m., May 6, 1892, Mrs. Kate Huffman Walton.

DEATH, with relentless cruelty, has entered another happy home and taken away its most precious jewel—a wife whose whole life was wrapped up in her husband, upon whom she lavished the wealth of an affection as pure as it was holy. Retiring and modest in her disposition, the supreme loveliness of her character was known only to those whose daily lives were thrown with hers, and to them it was a revelation of purity, goodness and love. To the husband, who is crushed with an inconsolable grief at her loss, she was the personification of all that was beautiful and lovable in woman, and tender and true in wife. She was the idol of his heart, the joy of his home, the hope of his life. But the silver cord has been loosed, the golden bowl been broken, the pitcher broken at the fountain, the happy home destroyed, and to his burdened spirit no silver lining appears to the dark cloud which seems to have forever darkened his life. For months she lay a patient, uncomplaining sufferer, though her dear body was racked with pain. She murmured not under any affliction and it was her peaceful, quiet demeanor that led her husband to think that she was not as sick as she was, and that a good God could not, or rather would not, take her from him. But he realizes it all now and when it is too late his eyes are opened to the fact that she was too good for him; too pure for this sin-cursed, dying earth, and that her only proper place was in the Home of the angels. How he now looks back on her life of devotion and single-thoughtedness for his happiness and how bitterly he remembers every hasty word or unkind look that he may have given her! Husband, it takes so little to make a true wife happy. Love is the whole existence. Do not deny it to her, or let business cares or other affairs make you for an instant forget her whom you have promised to love and cherish. It will be such a joy to her life and such a comfort and consolation to you when the time for parting comes, and the long, dreary days of her absence fall so heavily upon your heart. Keep not your kisses for her cold, dead brow. It will do her no good then. It will fill her whole life with happiness if you will be as anxious after you have won her to add to her pleasure as you were before.

The writer does not wish to obtrude his grief on his readers, but it is a comfort to speak of her who was his light, his life, his all, and we know they will bear with us, especially since so many of them have tendered their heartfelt sympathy and condolence. Friends and neighbors have been so kind, so thoughtful and attentive that we feel that our sorrow is their sorrow. May God bless them all.

There is no sorrow like that over the death of a devoted wife, such as was our precious Kate. It is overwhelming, consuming, crushing. For more than 16 years she has been a help-meet in every sense, encouraging us in our ambitions, enjoying our successes and comforting us in sorrows; in fact making our home the dearest place on earth. But it is all over. The happy home is broken and neither light nor hope appears. Joy has fled.

"All that is left of the bright, bright dream, With its thousand brilliant phases, Is a handful of dust in a coffin hid, In a coffin under the ashes."

"Sister Kate" is dead! These are sad words indeed to the writer, who knew his brother's wife so well, and each thought of the departed one carries to his heart a pang of grief that is extremely hard to bear. Coming to Kentucky as he did 10 years ago, and entering this family at that early age of 15, Sister Kate was to him a mother, a sister and an all. No mother ever looked on her son with a kinder feeling, no mother ever did more to add to the pleasure of her offspring than did this godly woman for him who was then a mere orphan. There are many women who would no doubt have looked upon him as an intruder in her household, but far from this was dear Sister Kate's nature. She was too good, too generous, too lovely for that and it was with a warm and full heart that she welcomed him to her fireside. This warm-hearted generosity has again and again been evinced and for instance only a few years ago, when a little niece had been left motherless, Sister Kate took the little one, cared for it, cherished it and was to it what she was to the writer, a beautiful, loving and affectionate mother. During Sister Kate's illness, it was the writer's pleasure to frequently visit her bedside and the Christian fortitude she evidenced was beautiful indeed. Notwithstanding her frame was wrecked with misery, she was ever patient and no murmur escaped those dear lips that are now stilled in death. It was a sad blow to the husband—no words can express his irreparable loss—no tongue can tell how his heart aches for his departed helpmeet. May the good Lord soften the deathly blow he has received and may each day bring him closer to the belief that "He doeth all things well." There is not a spark of doubt in the writer's mind but what dear Sister Kate's soul is in the hands of Him who gave it, for she was truly a child of God in every particular, but the sad thought that we will see her no more in flesh is what causes the heavy aching hearts of those who knew and loved her so well.

E. C. W.

This is what one who knew her says of her:

Mr. W. P. Walton's many friends in and out of the newspaper profession will be pained by the announcement of the death, this morning, of his wife. Modest and retiring, as becometh a woman, Mrs. Walton's circle of friends and acquaintances was not so broad as her husband's, but those who have entered the charmed precinct of their home life, enjoyed its ample but unostentatious hospitality and caught something of its perfect peace, were not long in realizing that one was the complement of the other and each an equal part of the harmonious whole. Though unblest by offspring of their own, Mr. and Mrs. Walton were ardently attached to an adopted daughter, who remains to comfort the bereaved husband. Mrs. Walton was a woman of handsome person, a cultivated mind, great amiability and charming sweetness of manners. She was in the prime of a beautiful life and the announcement of her death adds to sorrow the shock of surprise.—Emmett G. Logan in Louisville Times.

In the death of his amiable, accomplished and devoted wife, an irreparable loss has fallen upon one of the best and bravest of men, Walton, of the INTERIOR JOURNAL; and to no man more than to him will go out the sincere, deep and heartfelt love and sympathy of all whose pleasure it was to know him, and her of whom he has been so sadly bereft.—Laurie J. Blakely in Newport Journal.

Mrs. W. P. Walton, the wife of the editor of the Stanford INTERIOR JOURNAL, died yesterday after a long illness. Mr. Walton's numerous friends in the newspaper profession will be greatly pained by this announcement and will sympathize deeply with him in his great and irreparable loss.—Hopkinsville New Era.

I AM AGENT of the Lexington Steam Laundry and am prepared to laundry lace curtains at reasonable prices. Albert Severance.

SOME rascal, who no doubt did not know what he was doing, shot into Mr. Pete Hampton's house a few nights ago. Fortunately the ball's range was too low to do damage.

THE TIMES printed a splendid cut of our friend, Dr. Hawkins Brown, of Hustonville, who read a splendid paper before the State Medical Society in Louisville, last week.

MR. CHAS. DUNN is wearing a pair of spectacles that have been in use over 100 years. They were the property of an aged aunt of his and were presented to him years ago.

WOOL.—100,000 pounds wanted and a highest cash market price. Will have agents at Paint Lick, Lancaster, McKinney and Hustonville. See them before you sell. A. T. Nunnelley.

WE DESIRE to say to our customers whose accounts are past due that while we have been very lenient in the past, the time has now come when we must have our money. Prompt payments will save costs. Sime &amp; Menefee.

THE CANDIDATES for police judge of Rowland, Messrs. J. A. Chappell and Willis Barnett, made the welkin ring with oratory at that place Saturday night. Both gentlemen are proud of their efforts, as well as the votes their speeches made.

EVERY democrat should make it a point to attend the mass convention here next Saturday. There is an overwhelming Cleveland sentiment in this county and the people should see that none but those who are favorable to his nomination shall be placed on guard.

WILL SHANKS, of this place, but attending college at Danville, is down with another attack of poetic fever. His latest effusion appears in the Mt. Vernon Signal and is christened "The Winter Wind." It isn't a very long poem, but that doesn't matter a great deal.

THIEVES made a raid on Mr. F. Reid's smoke-house, one night last week, and took therefrom 10 middlings and 13 old hams. A few nights before Mr. Reid's big oil dog was shot and it is evident that that act was merely a prelude to the steal. This is the third smoke-house breaking-into in the last week or so.

THIS WILL be sad news to some of our readers, who expected to get a little cool cash out of the Fisher estate: "In response to thousands of inquiries from the United States regarding the estate of one Baron Fisher, who had been advertised to have many heirs in this country, the American legation at Berlin announces the estate to be entirely mythical."

BASE BALL.—THE INTERIOR JOURNALS will play the Danville base ball club on their grounds Friday afternoon next and the Danvilles will play a return game here on Tuesday following. These will not be league games, but good playing may be expected. The books are not yet open, but it's dollars to doughnuts on the I. J.'s.

SNAKES.—A dog belonging to Mr. J. G. Lynn killed a black snake over five feet long a few days ago. On cutting the snake open it was found to contain a garter snake two feet long and another of a variety he did not know. While plowing John Newland's lot in the lower end of town, a colored man unearthed three large black snakes, all wrapped around each other and making a ball nearly as round and larger than a foot ball.

THE ENTERTAINMENT to be given by the ladies of Trinity Episcopal church, Danville, at Walton's Opera House next Friday night, 13th, promises to be a real treat in itself and all who attend are assured that they will not only be amply entertained, but have the consciousness that they have aided in a good cause. The money is to help pay for a rectory. Let's all go and help the struggling little church. Admission 50 cents; children under 12 half price.

FOR RENT.—Four rooms in the Commercial Hotel. All fronting Main street M. F. Elkin.

THE weather has been pretty chilly for a few days, but it was warmer and showery yesterday.

THE ladies held their exchange in Judge Carson's store, Saturday, and had a very successful day.

COL. BILL FOSTER bought of John Anderson a lot on Crab Orchard street for $600.—Somerset Reporter.

SEE James Frye at Hustonville and F. M. Ware at McKinney before you sell your wool. A. T. Nunnelley.

PINEVILLE will have a town election to-day in which the issue will be licensed saloons versus "blind tigers."

Now that it is warm our spring wraps and jackets are selling fast. Come early if you would get choice. Severance &amp; Son.

ATTENTION, LADIES AND GENTS.—Come to our cheap table this week for towels, shirts, shoes, gingham, challies, &amp;c., &amp;c. J. S. Hughes.

THE Carpenter House is receiving a much-needed coat of paint. Jesse Ramsey is the artist and he is making it as "yaller" as a buttercup.

A PET dog at Crawfordsville, Ind., ate all the flesh off of the face of a two-year-old child. Let this be a warning to the lovers of the poodle.

EDITOR RUCKER of the Somerset Reporter, who was recently assaulted by Tom Scott, charges the mayor and police with complicity in the matter and rakes them over the coals for it. He also handles the city council without gloves.

JOSEPH GOSSENHEIMER, a clock peddler, was arrested by O. J. Newland Friday for selling his goods without a license. He was taken before Judge Carson, who fined him $5, but on Gossenheimer's taking out a license, which cost him $10, the fine was remitted.

A SOMERSET young lady is quite anxious that a hugging society be organized at that place and has sent to the Republican a paragraph from a Missouri paper concerning a successful one that is being carried on in that State. The average girl can get sufficient hugging without going to the trouble of getting up a society to secure it and the young lady to whom the Republican refers is either extremely unfortunate or is very hard to satisfy. Let her come to Stanford.

KINGSVILLE.—The new hotel is nearly complete and Mrs. Pennybaker, the proprietress, will move into it in a few days.

—Mrs. Sophie Martin, of Alabama, is the guest of her brother, Mr. W. L. McCarthy.—Earnest Smith was thrown from a Texas pony a few days ago and badly crippled.—Three young couples from this place attended church at Pleasant Point, Sunday, and on returning the mules to their wagon ran away, turning the wagon over and throwing the occupants to the ground with terrific force. Several of the young people were painfully hurt. The wagon was thoroughly demolished.—Misses Willie and Ida Morgan are down with typhoid fever.—B. M. White has traded to E. P. Faulconer, of Danville, his farm of 98 acres for a lot of horse stock.

KINGSVILLE ITEMS.—The residence of Mr. J. M. Cook caught fire Thursday and for a while it looked as if it would be consumed. There were no male persons on the place, but the young ladies fought it like trained firemen and finally got the fire under control. As usual, a defective flue was the trouble.—The council a few weeks ago appropriated money for the purpose of setting out maple trees on each side of Main street. The work has been done and when the trees grow larger will help the appearance as well as add comfort to the citizens of the capital of the West End.—Mrs. America Bailey will celebrate her 90th birthday Thursday. She has almost entirely recovered from her recent severe illness and bids fair to live to see several more birthdays.—The farmers are about through planting corn in this section and an unusually large acreage is being used for that cereal. Wheat is looking extraordinarily well for this time of the year.

HIGHWAY ROBBERY.—Richard Robinson, of the Preachersville vicinity, came to town Friday and had a warrant issued for Robert Land, of Rowland, for highway robbery. The circumstances are as follows: Robinson and Land made a trade and in the trade Land got a mule which he afterwards found was as blind as a bat. Land claims that Robinson represented the mule to be sound and since he discovered that he cannot see he wanted Robinson to either take the mule back or pay for his deficiency in sight. This Robinson refused to do and when Land saw him drive through Rowland Friday he decided to make him do one or the other and proceeded to relieve him of his horse and buggy to use as boot on the trade. Robinson did not like this and refused point blank to give up his turnout. Land used his stick as a persuasion and Robinson thought the chances were against him and complied with his request. Immediately after this Robinson came to town and did as above stated. The trial was set for Tuesday and Land was held over till then in $200 bond.

J. A. CHAPPELL requests us to say that the charge, that he will use his influence if elected police judge of Rowland to unite Stanford and that place, is without the slightest foundation. In other words, it is a lie, manufactured out of whole cloth.

Jesse Cook went over to Lexington Saturday and returned Sunday with his brother, Johnny, who ran away some four weeks ago. The youth worked a while at Somerset and then went to Lexington, where he ran out of money and was finally placed in the station-house.

A SLIGHT CHANGE of schedule went into effect on this division of the L. &amp; N. Sunday. No. 25, the south-bound night train passes at 12:25 A. M., instead of 1:13 A. M. and 26, the north-bound train, passes at 2:35 A. M., instead of 2:35 A. M. There is no change in the day trains.

MR. R. C. WARREN tells us that the Wayne Circuit Court was an unusually dull one and that there were no cases of importance on the docket save that of B. Shock Bell for killing his brother-in-law, Gregory. Bell, who was represented by Messrs. Warren and Saufley, was acquitted. The citizens are very much elated over the discovery of a new oil well. It is situated not far from the one found some time ago and oil is said to gush copiously from it.

At a meeting of the prohibitionists at the court-house, yesterday, Dr. G. A. Taylor was made chairman and J. H. Collier, secretary. The following delegates were selected to attend the State Convention at Louisville, June 1 and 2: T. Mc. Holmes, A. W. Carpenter, A. H. Bastin, J. H. Collier, M. M. Early, J. T. O'Hair, A. C. Carman, C. E. Powell, J. C. Montgomery, Dr. G. W. Bronaugh. A. W. Carpenter was made county chairman for the ensuing year and was also made secretary and treasurer.

In the county court yesterday tavern licenses were granted to Thomas Dalton for the Carpenter House, Stanford, Weatherford &amp; Brown, at Hustonville, and M. C. Vanderpool, at Crab Orchard. The will of Willis Whitley, colored, was offered for probate, but continued for contest. The wills of William Innis and S. W. Givens, Sr., were probated. Mr. Givens devised to his wife for life 130 acres of land, including the homestead, and some stock, farming utensils, &amp;c. The residue of the farm is given to the six youngest children and the rest of the estate divided equally among his children, after charging some advancements; George C. Givens, S. W. Givens, Jr., and G. L. Surber qualified as executors.
